MATERNITY

Most of us are aware that this Amendment will take effect on 1 January 2023. How about those employees who deliver their child before 1 January 2023? Are they eligible for 98 days of maternity leave?

No, they will still follow the 60 days of maternity leave. The 98 days start on 1 January 2023. However, employers may opt to commence with the 98 days earlier to give their female employees a more favourable terms and conditions.

MATERNITY

If an employee resigns during early pregnancy but has not managed to get another job, can she claim maternity allowance from the previous employer? If yes, should it be in full or prorated as per the length of service with the previous employer?

So long as the employee fulfills the conditions to qualify for maternity allowance, the employer must provide such allowance irrespective of the employment status. The employer is obliged to provide full payment of 98 days for those who deliver on or after 1 January 2023.

MATERNITY

Section 44A which extends maternity allowance to every female employee who is employed under a contract of service irrespective of her wages has been deleted. Does this mean employees who are not covered in the FIRST SCHEDULE do not qualify for maternity allowance?

The revised FIRST SCHEDULE extends the PREGNANCY AND MATERNITY provision to all female employees irrespective of their wages.

MATERNITY

Would an employee who had a miscarriage be entitled to maternity allowance?

Section 37 states that every female employee shall be entitled to receive from her employer a maternity allowance for the eligible period from her employer if

- (i) she has been employed by the employer for a period of, or periods amounting in the aggregate to, not less than ninety days during the nine months immediately before her confinement; and
- (ii) (ii) she has been employed by the employer at any time in the four months immediately before her confinement.

Confinement is defined under section 2(1) of the Employment Act 1955 as “parturition resulting after at least twenty-two weeks of pregnancy in the issue of a child or children, whether alive or dead, and shall for the purposes of this Act commence and end on the actual day of birth and where two or more children are born at one confinement shall commence and end on the day of the birth of the last-born of such children, and the word confined shall be construed accordingly”

MATERNITY

Are maternity leave and maternity allowance applicable for foreign female workers?

The Employment Act 1955 and the recent Amendments are applicable to both Malaysians and foreign employees. Therefore, foreign female employees are eligible for maternity leave and maternity allowance irrespective as to whether legitimate or otherwise.

MATERNITY

Should an employer allow an employee to request to resume work earlier but has not been certified fit to work?

The Amendment stipulates the need to be certified fit to resume work by a registered medical practitioner. Furthermore, the employee must also obtain consent from the employer.

MATERNITY

Is the company required to pay wages in addition to the maternity allowance if an employee who is eligible for maternity allowance commences work at any time during the eligible period?

The Amendment did not provide guidelines with regards to the above. In our opinion, the company could consider adopting the below options which are favourable to the employee until further guidance is provided by the authorities.

E.g. An employee decides to return to work after completing 68 days during their confinement period. The remaining eligible period of her maternity allowance is thirty (30) days.

|          |   |   |
|----------|---|---|
| Option 1 | Pay wages and remaining allowance for the eligible period   | She is paid wages (as normal) upon commencement of work and at the same time continues to receive maternity allowance for the remaining 30 days.            |
| Option 2 | Convert the remaining maternity allowance into annual leave for the employee to utilise at their discretion | She is paid wages (as normal) upon commencement of work and she is accorded additional 30 days of paid annual leave in replacement for maternity allowance. |

The company when granting the consent to resume work should specify the conditions above for the employee to make a decision.

You are advised to further consult the nearest Labour Office or Labour Department or the Legal & Enforcement Division of the Labour Department Headquarters for guidance.

FAQ

---

MATERNITY

If the female employee has already commenced her maternity leave in December 2022, should the company pro-rate her entitlement on 1 January 2023 to comply with the 98 days entitlement?

The employee shall complete her confinement period based on sixty (60) days. The 98 days eligibility is for those who commence their confinement on 1 January 2023 and onwards.

You are advised to further consult the nearest Labour Office or Labour Department or the Legal & Enforcement Division of the Labour Department Headquarters for guidance.

MATERNITY

If an employee delivers twins (4th and 5th child) and is paid maternity allowance for 98 days and in the future delivers her 6th child, would she qualify for paid maternity allowance? Technically she has gone into confinement 4 times prior to the delivery of her 6th child. She has 5 surviving children.

| Confinement 1                | Confinement 2                | Confinement 3                | Confinement 4  | Confinement 5            |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|------------------------------|--|--------------------------|
| Received maternity allowance | Received maternity allowance | Received maternity allowance | Received maternity allowance                           | Does she qualify? |

In our opinion, she is NOT entitled to any maternity allowance as at the said time of her confinement she has five surviving children. In the case of the father, he qualifies as it is the fifth confinement.

MATERNITY

Can a female employee be terminated during her confinement?

No, please refer to section 41A of the amended section.

MATERNITY

Would a female employee who suffers a miscarriage be eligible for maternity leave and allowance?

If the female employee suffers a miscarriage after at least twenty-two weeks, she shall be eligible for maternity leave and allowance provided subject to the conditions stipulated in the Employment Act 1955

PATERNITY

Should rest days and public holidays be included in determining the seven (7) consecutive days?

We have consulted Labour Office and it is mentioned the seven (7) consecutive days includes off day, rest day and public holiday. You are advised to further consult the nearest Labour Office or Labour Department or the Legal & Enforcement Division of the Labour Department Headquarters.

PATERNITY

Would an employee who has served the company less than 12 months be entitled to paternity leave?

No, in order to qualify, the employee must have been employed by the same employer at least twelve months immediately before the commencement of such paternity leave.

PATERNITY

If an employee whose wife delivers the sixth child and has been provided with paternity leave for the first 5 children with a previous employer, would the company be required to grant a fresh set of paternity leave?

The employee is only qualified for paternity leave for the first 5 children irrespective of the number of employers he has worked for. In addition to that, if the employee's wife delivers the fourth child on or after 1 January 2023, the employee shall be eligible for paternity leave for child number 4 and 5 only.

PATERNITY

Is paternity leave limited to 5 surviving children similar to maternity provision?

The Amendment is restricted to five confinements and does not stipulate conditions for the number of surviving children.

PATERNITY

Is paternity leave applicable for foreign male workers?

The Employment Act 1955 and the recent Amendment are applicable to both Malaysians and foreign workers. Therefore, foreign male workers are entitled to paternity leave.

PATERNITY

Would an unmarried male employee qualify for paternity leave if his 'partner' delivers a child?

The eligibility is subject to being married. It is advisable for companies to publish a paternity leave policy and state the conditions of paternity leave and advise them to update the company on their marital status.

PATERNITY

Would an employee be eligible for paternity leave if his wife has a miscarriage after

The eligibility is in respect of each confinement. Confinement is interpreted as 'parturition resulting after at least twenty-two weeks of pregnancy in the issue of a child or children, whether alive or dead. If the employee's wife suffers a miscarriage after at least twenty-two weeks, he shall be eligible for paternity leave.'

PATERNITY

If have an employee whose wife delivers the sixth child after 1 January 2023. Is the company required to provide paternity leave?

The paternity leave shall be restricted to five (5) confinements irrespective of the number of spouses and number of living children. Please refer to the new section 60FA (2).

PATERNITY

Should the paternity leave commence on the day of the birth of the child or can it be taken anytime?

The married male employee shall be entitled to the paid maternity leave for a period of seven consecutive days from the day the wife confines which is confirmed by the FAQ produced by JTK. The Amendment is silent on conditions other than that stipulated under section 60FA (3) (a) and (b). As such Companies when designing their policy on paternity leave should allow some exceptions in special cases such as those who are required to work outstation or away from home including foreign employees to take the paternity leave on some other days.

WAGES

Are there any changes to the definition of wages?

The Amendment did not mention any changes to the definition of wages.

NIGHT SHIFT PERMIT

With the repealing of Section 34 that prohibits night work for females, are companies required to apply for approval from the Director General (Labour)?

No longer required.

NIGHT SHIFT ALLOWANCE

With the repealing of Section 34 that prohibits night work for females, can the company withdraw the night shift allowance?

The night shift allowance is already an expressed term in the contract of service. It cannot be reduced or withdrawn without the consent of the employee.

SICK LEAVE & HOSPITALISATION LEAVE

Does the Amendment of sick leave and hospitalization leave apply to those employees who are outside the scope of the Employment Act 1955?

The revised FIRST SCHEDULE extends the Sick Leave and Hospitalisation Leave to all employees irrespective of their wages.

WAGES

Would a company driver or any drivers or manual workers earning above RM 4,000 be entitled to overtime?

Yes

UNUTILISED ANNUAL LEAVE & UNPAID LEAVE CALCULATION

How do we calculate unutilised annual leave and unpaid paid?

| Wages/Calendar Days  | Wages/26 days   |
|--|---|
| For calculation of <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Incomplete month pay</li><li>- Unpaid leave</li></ul>   | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- For calculation of Ordinary Rate of Pay (ORP)</li><li>- Annual leave encashment</li></ul>           |
| In some companies, monthly wages are based on different wage period i.e. 21st – 20th or 16th to 15th and so on. In this case, you use wages/days in wage period | $\frac{\text{Monthly wages}}{\text{Number of days of the particular wage period}} \times \text{Number of days eligible in the wage period}$ |

PRO-RATED WAGES (SECTION 18A)

How do we define wages for annual leave and unpaid paid?

You will need to follow the definition of wages in section 2.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

Are there any guidelines that specify the conditions or criteria for flexible working arrangement (FWA)?

Section 60Q states that the employee shall make an application for FWA under section 60P in writing and in the form and manner as may be determined by the Director General. The form and manner has not been determined by the Director General as yet. Subsection (2) requires the employer to either approve or refuse the application within sixty days from the date such application and inform the employee in writing under subsection (3). In the event the application is refused, the employer is required to state the ground of such refusal.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

What would be a good reason to refuse an application for FWA?

The Amendment did not provide guidelines. In our opinion, it shall be left to the company to specify the conditions or criteria and establish their FWA policy.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

Would there be a concern of discrimination if some applications were to be approved while some others were rejected?

Employers are advised to specify the conditions or criteria and establish their FWA policy. It is also advisable to be transparent, consistent, fair and exercise reasonable judgment when approving or rejecting an application. Do note that Section 60Q requires the employer to either approve or refuse the application for FWA within sixty days from the date such application is received and inform the employee in writing. If the application is refused, the employer is required to state the ground of such refusal.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

Can employees outside the scope of the Employment Act 1955 (as per the current FIRST SCHEDULE) be eligible to apply for FWA?

The revised FIRST SCHEDULE extends this provision to all employees irrespective of their wages.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

If the employer is already offering/practicing a flexible working system, does the employer need to make any changes to the existing FWA policy?

The employer would need to extend the FWA coverage to those defined in the FIRST SCHEDULE of the Employment Act 1955 and ensure the provisions of Section 60Q are observed. It requires the employer to either approve or refuse the application for FWA within sixty days from the date such application is received and inform the employee in writing. If the application is refused, the employer is required to state the ground of such refusal.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

Is there an appeal process for employees if their application is refused?

Companies are advised to provide an avenue for employees to appeal internally. The Amendment do not mention any specific appeal process to the Director General. However, employees will always have the option to seek advice from the nearest Labour Office or Labour Department of the Legal & Enforcement Division of the Labour Department HQ.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

Section 60Q(1) states that the employee shall make an application for flexible working arrangement in writing and in the form and manner as may be determined by the Director General. Is there a form or criteria that the company needs to follow? Or companies are required to establish their own process or form?

The Amendment did mention that the form and manner will be determined by the Director General not the Human Resources Minister. However, the form and manner have not been determined by the Director General as yet. Companies are advised to seek guidance from the nearest Labour Office or Labour Department or the Legal & Enforcement Division of the Labour Department Headquarters for further clarification.

FLEXIBLE WORK ARRANGEMENT (FWA)

If the company implements compressed work hours and this has resulted in the employee working more than eight (8) hours on a particular day, would they be entitled to overtime?

Overtime under section 60A (3) (b) of the Act means “the number of hours of work carried out in excess of the normal hours of work per day.” Section 60A (1) (c) states that an employee shall not be required to work under his contract of service to work in excess of a spread over a period of ten hours in one day. As such the Company that intends to practice “compressed work hours” are advised to apply in writing to the Director General under section 60A (!A) of the Act to grant him permission to enter into a contract of service with the employee to exceed the limit of ten hours prescribed under section 60A (1) (c) of the Act.

WORK HOURS

My company operates a production line that runs for 6 days from 8.00 am to 4.00 pm How can the company adjust the work hours with the reduction to 45 hours per week?

There has been numerous discussion and suggestions by members. You may find the discussion here. Furthermore, MEF has also recently issued a circular on work hours. You may want to check that out too.

WORK HOURS

Do the 45 hours include breaks? Can the company exclude break time from the calculation of 45 hours?

You can exclude break time from the basic hours of work. However, please note that an employee shall not be required to work under section 60A (1):

- (a) more than five consecutive hours without a period of leisure of not less than thirty minutes duration;
- (b) more than eight hours in one day;
- (c) in excess of a spread over period of ten hours in one day;
- (d) more than forty-five hours in one week

Malaysian Employers Federation has also recently issued a circular on work hours. You may want to check that out too if you are a member of MEF.

WORK HOURS

What is the impact of 45 hours per week on the calculation of overtime for monthly and daily rated employees?

The current formula for determining ORP remains unchanged except the work hours shall be 45 instead of 48 hours as is expressly stated in section 60I(1)(b) of the Employment Act 1955 with regards to “hourly rate of pay”.

WORK HOURS

How do the 45 hours distribute equally for those working six (6) days per week or those working five (5) days?

Companies can organize their work hours to meet their operational needs provided the basic hours are limited to 45 hours. A simple illustration is shown below.

|                             | Limitation of basic hours | 6 days work                                   | 5 days work                                  |
|-----------------------------|---------------------------|---|--|
| Current                     | 48                        | 8 hours per day(excluding break)          | 9.6 hours per day*(excluding break)      |
| Effective1 January 2023 | 45                        | 7.5 hours per day(excluding unpaid break) | 9 hours per day*(excluding unpaid break) |

\ Please note that basic work hours cannot be in excess of a spread over period of ten hours in one day*

WORK HOURS

What is defined as night work? Any specific time?

There is a definition of a “day” in section 2 (1) of the Employment Act 1955. Night shift work could be deemed hours of work that commences after sunset and before sunrise. Please seek clarification from the nearest Labour Office or Labour Department or the Legal & Enforcement Division of the Labour Department Headquarters.

WORK HOURS

In a situation whereby 45 hours are fully utilised from Mondays to Fridays, are Saturday and Sunday considered rest days? As previously Saturday is recognized as an off day and in a standby mood whereby the employer can call the employee back to work without extra pay.

1. Section 59(1) states “where an employee is allowed more than one rest day in a week the last of such rest days shall be the rest day ...”.
2. Saturday, shall, in this case, remain an off day while Sunday is a rest day.
3. Work done on an off day beyond basic hours of 45 (hours) shall be paid at a rate not less than one and half times his hourly rate of pay.

BREAK TIME

Should break time be included in the calculation of official working hours?

Section 60A(9) states that “hours of work means the time during which an employee is at the disposal of the employer and is not free to dispose of his own time and movements.” So long as the employee is free to dispose of his time and movement during the lunch break than that period can be excluded from the calculation of work hours. In the event if a Labour Officer from the Labour Office or Labour Department decides or orders otherwise, request the Labour Officer to put his decision or order in writing so that the employer can appeal against the said decision or order to the Director General under section 4 of the Act within 21 days.

OVERTIME

Can the company compel employees (non-manual workers) with wages above RM 4,000 to work beyond the normal hours of work or work on off day or rest day or on public holidays?

In our opinion companies may be able to compel employees whose wages are above RM4000 per month and are not covered by Part X11 of Act. However, the company could opt to pay overtime to those employees based on a flat rate at RM4000 if they perform overtime or provide any other form of compensation or rewards to entice them to work beyond normal hours of work that is mutually accepted by both the company and the employee.

OVERTIME

Currently, our total work hours (excluding unpaid breaks) are less than 45 hours. Do we need to make any changes to our work hours?

So long as your work hours are not more than 45, you need not make any changes.

PUBLIC HOLIDAY

Our company observes a minimum of 11 public holidays for all employees. Can we replace the non-mandatory public holiday with paid annual leave?

Five (5) of the eleven (11) public holidays are mandatory under section 60D (1)(a) of the Act that cannot be substituted for any other days. However, you may substitute the remaining six (6) days with another day or days by agreement between the company and the employee as provided for under the provisos to section 60D (1A) of the Act.

OVERTIME

Would an employee on half-day work be entitled to overtime?

An employee who is required to work over and above the half-day work that happens to be the normal hours of work for the day, such additional work shall be deemed to be overtime UNLESS the contract of service states otherwise.

Please refer to section 60A (1) (iii) of the Act which states that “where by agreement under the contract of service between the employee and the employer, the number of hours of work on one day or more days of the week is less than eight, the limit of eight hours may be exceeded on the remaining days of the week, but so that no employees shall be required to work for more than nine hours in one day or forty-five hours in one week.”

Employers may have to refine their overtime policy and state that overtime is only applicable when the employees work more than their normal hours of work per day.

FAQ

OVERTIME

Can an employee be asked to work more than 7.5 hours per day without incurring overtime?

Please see the comparison below to have a deeper understanding.

| Current Section 60A  | Amended Section 60A   |
|--|---|
| Hours of Work   | Hours of Work and Working at Night   |
| Hours of work(1) Except as hereinafter provided, an employee shall not be required under his contract of service to work(a) more than five consecutive hours without a period of leisure of not less than thirty minutes duration;(b) more than eight hours in one day;(c) in excess of a spread over period of ten hours in one day;(d) more than forty-eight hours in one week: | Hours of work(1) Except as hereinafter provided, an employee shall not be required under his contract of service to work(a) more than five consecutive hours without a period of leisure of not less than thirty minutes duration;(b) more than eight hours in one day;(c) in excess of a spread over period of ten hours in one day;(d) more than forty-five hours in one week: |

Commentary

1. Employee can still work up to 8 basic hours per day but cannot exceed 45 hours per week if they work 6 days per week.
2. What has changed is the total basic hours per week (48 hours → 45 hours) but other aspects of section 60A remain unchanged.
3. In cases where the employee works 5 days per week or lesser, the basic work hours per day can be up 10 hours but cannot exceed 10 hours without the approval of Director General under section 60 (1A).

HOURLY RATE OF PAY (HRP) & ORDINARY RATE OF PAY (ORP)

What is ORP & HRP

Section 60(I) defines the ordinary rate of pay (ORP) & hourly rate of pay (HRP) as below;

For more info, please read section 60I for further information including calculations for other methods of pay such as weekly, hourly, daily or piece rated.

Calculations for monthly salaried employees

ORP

$$\frac{\text{Monthly rate of pay}}{26}$$

HRP

$$\frac{\text{Ordinary rate of pay}}{\text{Normal hours of work}}$$

HRP

Combined formula

$$\frac{\text{Monthly rate of pay}}{26 \times 8}$$

Assumption: Basic work hours = 8 hours

Remarks:

- Ordinary rate of pay (ORP) is one day's pay for the day worked
- Monthly rate of pay is 'wages' as defined in Section 2 of EA 1955

Selamat Sejahtera Tuan/Puan,

Formula pengiraan gaji kerja lebih masa bagi memenuhi waktu kerja 45 jam adalah seperti berikut:

1. Sekiranya majikan mengamalkan 6 hari bekerja seminggu dan mengurangkan waktu kerja sehari dari 8 jam kepada 7.5 jam, maka pengiraan Ordinary Rate Pay (ORP) = Gaji bulanan / (26 hari X 7.5 jam)
1. Sekiranya majikan mengamalkan 6 hari bekerja seminggu dan mengekalkan waktu kerja sehari dari 8 jam (Isnin - Jumaat) dan mengurangkan waktu kerja sehari pada hari Sabtu kepada 5 jam, maka pengiraan Ordinary Rate Pay (ORP) = Gaji bulanan / (26 hari X 8 jam)

DEFINITION OF WAGES

How do we define wages in order to determine who is qualified for overtime payment?

In order to determine the above, we first need to understand the definition of wages in SECTION 2 and the definition of wages in the FIRST SCHEDULE of the Employment Act 1955.

Definition of wages in Section 2

Wages means basic wages and all other payments in cash payable to an employee for work done in respect of his contract of service but does not include:

- (a) the value of any house accommodation or the supply of any food, fuel, light or water or medical attendance, or of any approved amenity or approved service;
- (b) any contribution paid by the employer on his own account to any pension fund, provident fund, superannuation scheme, retrenchment, termination, lay-off or retirement scheme, thrift scheme or any other fund or scheme established for the benefit or welfare of the employee;
- (c) any travelling allowance or the value of any traveling concession;
- (d) any sum payable to the employee to defray special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment;
- (e) any gratuity payable on discharge or retirement; or
- (f) any annual bonus or any part of any annual bonus

Definition of Wages for FIRST SCHEDULE

For the purpose of this Schedule, wages means wages as defined in section 2, but shall not include any payment by way of commissions, subsistence allowance and overtime payment.

FAQ

DEFINITION OF WAGES

How do we define wages in order to determine who is ENTITLED to overtime payment (as stated in FIRST SCHEDULE)?

The below will be considered as part of wages in order to determine who is entitled to overtime.

| Component of Wages  | What to be included? |
|---|----------------------|
| Basic wages and all other payments in cash payable to an employee for work done   | ✓                    |
| Value of any house accommodation or the supply of any food, fuel, light or water or medical attendance, or of any approved amenity or approved service;   | X                    |
| Any contribution paid by the employer on his own account to any pension fund, provident fund, superannuation scheme, retrenchment, termination, lay-off or retirement scheme, thrift scheme or any other fund or scheme established for the benefit or welfare of the employee; | X                    |
| Any travelling allowance or the value of any traveling concession;  | X                    |
| Any sum payable to the employee to defray special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment;   | X                    |
| Any gratuity payable on discharge or retirement; or   | X                    |
| Any annual bonus or any part of any annual bonus  | X                    |
| Commission  | X                    |
| Subsistence Allowance*  | X                    |
| Overtime  | X                    |

Subsistence allowance definition from <https://www.dictionary.com/browse/subsistence-allowance> (edited)

- Money given in advance to an employee, to buy food, clothing, and pay for other necessities while awaiting the first pay.
- Money paid to a worker in addition to salary to cover expenses that may be incurred in the performance of the job.

Do seek guidance from JTK if any allowance that is excluded falls under subsistence allowance.

DEFINITION OF WAGES

How do we define wages in order to determine who is qualified for overtime payment?

In our opinion, wages based on Section 2 are as below illustration. Please seek guidance from JTK.

|   | Illustration 1 | Illustration 2 | Illustration 3 | Illustration 4 |
|---|----------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|
| Basic salary  | RM 4,000       | RM 2,500       | RM 3,800       | RM 3,800       |
| Allowances  | -              | RM 1,200       | RM 150         | RM 300         |
| Commission  | -              | -              | RM 200         | -              |
| Overtime  | -              | RM 1,000       |                | -              |
| Total Wages(to determine entitlement to OT) | RM 4,000       | RM 3,700       | RM 3,950       | RM 4,100       |
| Entitled for overtime?                           | Yes            | Yes            | Yes            | No             |

Note : The above illustration does not include manual workers

FORCED LABOUR

With the introduction of Section 90B on forced labour, would compulsory/mandatory/schedules/planned overtime be construed as forced labour?

In our opinion, any overtime that is part of the job and has been made known to the employee prior to accepting the job becomes an expressed term of employment. Whether it is forced labour or not will require a close examination of the wording of the section and in our opinion, it may not amount to forced labour if the parties have contractually agreed to do overtime. "If the Letter of Appointment (LOA) states the employees are required to work OT and the employee had acknowledged it, he cannot later refuse to work OT. It is incumbent upon the employee to work OT. Failure to do so is misconduct as has been decided in the Industrial Court Case of Kulitkraf Sdn Bhd v National Union of Workers in Shoes Manufacturing Industry [ICA 256/90]. You can also refer to other Industrial Court Cases 43/80 and 66/82 to fortify your authority.

FORCED LABOUR

Does the definition of forced labor in the Amendment follow in accordance with the International Labour Organisation's 11 Forced Labour indicators?

The Amendment did not specify the definition. However, we need to note that Malaysia ratified the Forced Labour Convention 1930 on 21 March 2022.

FORCED LABOUR

With this new provision, will this impact the internal job transfer process?

In our opinion, moving an employee on a job transfer is an implied term of employment that is widely practiced and accepted. Companies are advised to be fair and ensure transfers are made in a bona-fide manner and comply with prevailing employment regulations.

FORCED LABOUR

Would an employee bond (for the purposes of training) be deemed as forced labour.

There is no specific provision on this.

FORCED LABOUR

With the introduction of Section 90b on forced labour, would a scenario where foreign workers who were promised a particular role during the interview but are placed in another role/job upon reporting to work be deemed as forced labour?

The Amendment did not elaborate further on this. In our opinion, this could be considered as ‘deceive’ or ‘deception’. Section 90b states that “Any employer who threatens, deceives or forces an employee to do any activity, service or work and prevents that employee from proceeding beyond the place or area where such activity, service or work is done, commits an offence ...”.

CONTRACTOR FOR LABOUR

If the company seconded local and foreign employees to other companies, will it be deemed as Contractor for Labour? Contractor for Labour require to have approval under Private Employment Agencies Act?

Firstly, foreign workers cannot be seconded to other companies or entities as it may infringe immigration and labour regulations. Please check with JTK and Immigration Department. For the secondment of local employees, we are of the view, it may be acceptable for temporary secondment. However, for long-term secondment, you may want to seek the guidance of JTK. Private Employment Agencies are not allowed to provide outsourced worker services. Kindly seek guidance from JTK.

SABAH & SARAWAK

Is this Amendment applicable for Sabah and Sarawak?

The Employment Act 1955 is only applicable to Peninsular Malaysia

FOREIGN WORKERS

Is this Amendment applicable to foreign employees?

The Employment Act 1955 and the recent Amendments are applicable to both Malaysians and foreign employees.

CONTRACTS WORKERS (FIXED TERM CONTRACT)

Is this Amendment applicable to those employees engaged on a fixed-term contract?

The Employment Act 1955 and the recent Amendments are applicable to both permanent and fixed-term contracts.

PROBATIONERS

Is this Amendment applicable to employees on probation?

The Employment Act 1955 and the recent Amendments are applicable to both probationers and confirmed employees. However, the applicability of certain provisions such as paternity leave is only applicable to those who have served the company for more than twelve (12) months.

APPRENTICE

Is Apprenticeship the same as an Internship?

No, they are not the same.

INDEMNITY FOR TERMINATION OF CONTRACT WITHOUT NOTICE

Since Section 69C which provides an avenue to seek help from Labour Department on claims for indemnity for termination of contract without notice has been repealed, what options does the company have?

Companies may rely on section 69(2)(iii) of the Employment Act 1955 and or find alternative options to recover the indemnity from the employee via a civil claim.

69(2) The powers of the Director General under subsection (1) shall include the power to hear and decide, in accordance with the procedure laid down in this Part, any claim by (iii) an employer against his employee in respect of indemnity due to such employer under subsection 13(1)

COURT ORDER FOR PAYMENTS DUE TO EMPLOYEE

In the new Section 87A, would an employer be required to pay dues to the employee before they are proven guilty? (New section 87: “Court order for payments due to employee 87A. (1) Where an employer has been convicted of an offence relating to the payment of wages or any other payments payable to an employee under this Act, the court before which he is convicted may order the employer to pay any payment due to the employee in relation to that offence.

The provision states when an employer has been convicted. The dictionary meaning of ‘convicted’ is “having been declared guilty by the court”

EMPLOYEE HANDBOOK AND COMMUNICATION ON CHANGES TO EMPLOYEES

Should an employer incorporate the recent Amendments in the employee's handbook or company policies? And should we communicate to employees about these changes?

It is always advisable to ensure the terms and conditions of employment and legal entitlements are spelled out in the Employee Handbook and/or company policies. Notifying employees of the changes would be a noteworthy effort for educational and transparency purposes.

PRESUMPTION AS TO WHO IS AN EMPLOYEE AND EMPLOYER

Would an engagement of a Contractor/Consultant under Service Agreement for a specific period or task be deemed as an employee or an employer under the new Section 101C?

So long as the conditions stipulated in Section 101C are not present in such engagement, that relationship may not be deemed as an employer or an employee. Below are articles/awards that may help to provide some clarity.

INFORMATION RELATING TO SUPPLY OF EMPLOYEES

Can anyone supply foreign workers to another company with a written contract?

In 2019, the Government has stopped issuing out-source quotas/approvals. You may want to seek guidance from Labour Department/ Ministry of Home Affairs.

PUBLIC HOLIDAY

Our company observes all gazetted public holiday in the state we operate in. Can we now reduce the public holidays to 11 days for all employees?

If the current terms of employees state the company observes all public holidays, you can only reduce it with the consent of the employees.

NOTICE PERIOD

Currently, our company adopts the following notice period:

During probation period: 1 month, Upon confirmation: 3 months

Do we need to revise the notice period as stipulated in Section 12?

You do not need to revise. Section 12 (2) states that:

- i) The length of such notice shall be the same for both employer and employee, and
- ii) shall be determined by a provision made in writing for such notice in the terms of the contract of service, or,
- iii) in the absence of such provision in writing, shall not be less than 4 weeks / 6 weeks / 8 weeks.

Notice of termination of contract

12. (1) Either party to a contract of service may at any time give to the other party notice of his intention to terminate such contract of service.

(2) The length of such notice shall be the same for both employer and employee and shall be determined by a provision made in writing for such notice in the terms of the contract of service, or, in the absence of such provision in writing, shall not be less than—

- (a) four weeks' notice if the employee has been so employed for less than two years on the date on which the notice is given;
- (b) six weeks' notice if he has been so employed for two years or more but less than five years on such date;
- (c) eight weeks' notice if he has been so employed for five years or more on such date:
